

Recruiting in Today's Market

Edward P. Murphy*
General Manager
World Staffing Solutions

Canada is on the cusp of a major talent shortage which will last for decades. The energy sector will face these challenges most acutely. Where are the shortages? What are the main issues? How is the energy sector responding to the shortages? What remains to be done?

Biography

Ed spent 21 years in the petroleum service industry with Grant Prideco before joining the Diversified Staffing Group as General Manager. His many roles included International Business Development. He began the Grant Prideco Canada operation in 1992 moving to Canada in 1999. His specialty with Grant was business development. He joined the Diversified Staffing Group with the objective of growing the corporation's core businesses. Since joining the company, many new projects have been successfully completed while enjoying steady growth across the company.